The course requires that you complete at least 60 hours of appropriately supervised client work during the course, evidencing growing autonomy and independence within your practice, for example - taking full clinical responsibility, carrying out client assessment, and evaluating outcomes - a considerable percentage of your client hours should reflect this either within an agency or in private practice.

Have you made plans or arrangements about how you will carry this out?

Please describe a key part of your personal process which could impact the counsellor/client relationship using insight about yourself, your history, and your patterns of relating – explaining how this may impact upon your work as a developing practitioner, perhaps identifying areas for development (this does not need to be a long response – between 250 - 500 words)

Candidates need to have completed a minimum of 40 hours of personal counselling by the end of the course. This can include hours undertaken prior to the start of the course but at least 10 hours of personal therapy must be undertaken during the training year itself.
